

Importance of Women Education in India

Ms. Ayesha B.B.,

Assistant Professor

Dept of Commerce & Management studies,
BET Sadathunnisa College, Bangalore, India

Abstract

Education is a fundamental means to bring any desired change in society. Education not only helps in the development of personality but determines the future. Education gives solution to for any type of problems. Education is a powerful tool for reducing the inequality as it can give people the ability to take control of their lives. Primary education is a Fundamental Right of every human.

Women constitute almost half of the population in the world. Women play a significant role in the socio-economic of the society. Gender equality is a Human right. Women are entitled to live with dignity and freedom. Access to Education has been one of the most pressing demands of women's Rights movements. Education will empower women to come forward and contribute towards the development of the country. Women education in India has also been a major preoccupation of both the government and civil society as educated women can play a very important role in the development of the country. Women are far more likely to get a decent education these days than was then case twenty to thirty years ago. Women power is crucial to the economic growth of any country. Educated women not only tend to promote education of their girl child, but also can provide better guidance to all the children. Women with education help in development of human resources, but in improving the quality of life at home and outside. Education is a milestone of Women Empowerment because it enables them to respond to the challenges, to confront their traditional roles and change their life.

Traditionally an Indian woman has 4 fold status roles. They are daughter, wife, housewife and a mother. Realizing the importance of Women Education and increased awareness of Education in women, government and many NGO's took a lot of projects in order to spread Women's Education.

Educated Women are informed of their rights for justice. Educated Women become a source of inspiration for millions of young girls who make them their role models. Educated women are playing bigger and bigger role in economic fields as workers, consumer's entrepreneurs, managers and investors. Women today are now seen in every field. They have also made a great impact on service occupations as well.

Conclusion:

In our country growth of women in all areas are increasing by observing from past 25years. Today women have shouldered equal responsibilities with men. Women's position in the family very much depends upon the level of their Education. Educated Women are taking personal decisions about their education, marriage & more women want freedom of work, freedom to define their own life style. Economically independent women feel more confident about their personal lives

“You educate a man, you educate a man.
You educate a Woman, you educate a generation”.

References

1. Abbas, M. (10/2007). A Critical Path to Gender Equality, Women's Empowerment and Development. A paper presented to the Global Symposium & Education: A Critical Path to Gender Equality and Women's Empowerment & October 2& 3, 2007. Washington D.C.
2. A k Sornkool, Namtip (1995). Educate to Empower In: Carolyn Medel & Anonuevo (ed.). Women, Education and Empowerment: Pathways towards Autonomy. Hamburg: The UNESCO Institute for Education.
3. Azmat, Ghazala et al (2006). "Gender Gaps in Unemployment Rates in OECD Countries". Journal of Labor Economics. vol. 24, no. 1.
4. Basch, E. (9/2007). "Opportunity at Work: Improving Job Quality".
5. Opportunity at Work Series & No.1. Washington D.C: Center for Law And Social Policy.
6. Bergmann, H. (1996). "Quality of Education and the Demand for Education: Evidence from Developing Countries". International Review of Education. Vol. 42, No. 6. pp. 581& 604.
7. Bisnath, Savitri (11/2001). Globalization, Poverty and Women's Empowerment.
8. Maslak, M.A. & Singhal, G. (2008). The identity of educated women in India: Confluence or divergence. Gender and Education, Vol. 20, No.5, pp. 481-493.